Eisenhower Gets Word: 'All Quiet'

Will Return To Capital For Talk With Top Aides

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
NEWPORT, R. I. (U.S.)—President Eisenhower got an early start on the golf course today after receiving an "all quiet" report on the school integration controversy in Little Rock, Ark.

The vacationing President got the report on the Little Rock picture from Atty. Gen. Brownell, who telephoned from Washington and talked to James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

Hagerty sent word to newsmen here that Brownell told him to advise Eisenhower there was no change in the situation at Little Rock where Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus has used the National Guard to bar Negro students from Central High School.

Will Return Tomorrow
Eisenhower will interrupt his New England vacation tomorrow to return to Washington for a day of conferences on that matter and on the Communist menace in the Middle East.

The President, who arrived here only Wednesday, plans to return tomorrow night to Newport, where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are guests at the U. S. Naval base on Conan's Harbor Island.

The President spent about an hour at his office, then traveled across Narragansett Bay by Navy cabin cruiser for another round of golf at the Newport Country Club.

Late yesterday Hagerty said the President had decided to return to Washington tomorrow to:

1. Confer with Atty. Gen. Brownell regarding the tense school integration situation in Little Rock, Ark.

Eisenhower himself hinted, meanwhile, the federal government might be thinking about trying to limit the activities of National Guardsmen posted by Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus at Little Rock's Central High School.

The posting has halted racial integration ordered by a U. S. District Court.

2. Meet with Secretary of State Dulles and State Department trouble shooter Loy Henderson for a briefing on a mounting crisis in Syria. Henderson returned this week from the Middle East where he developed "deep concern lest Syria should become a victim of international communism."

The State Department reported its concern as the government hinted it may invoke Eisenhower's Middle East policy of economic and military aid to deal with the Syrian crisis. A resolution approved by Congress last March authorizes such aid to any Middle East country which "threatened by communism—seeks U. S. help."

Plans Baltimore Visit
3. Get together with Budget Director Brundage for preliminary discussion of the administration's pending program for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The White House also announced the President probably will drive (Continued on Page 2; Col. 4)

Tension Eases In Little Rock, Guard Stays Near School

BULLETIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.S.)—Suspicious National Guardsmen blocking integration made their first arrests at Central High School today. Four Minneapolis white men were taken into custody and three were escorted out of the city.

By ED MARTIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.S.)—The future of Little Rock's smoldering integration crisis appeared today to be in the hands of a federal judge as heavily armed National Guardsmen still ringed Central High School.

A momentary lull developed yesterday in the battle over racial mixing. The Little Rock School Board offered the possibility of a temporary solution by asking federal Judge Ronald N. Davies to follow an indefinite legal postponement of integration.

Police Have No Report
There was a report that a cross was burned early today outside the home of Little Rock's mayor but police said they had no record of such an incident. A source close to the mayor insisted the report was true.

Judge Davies will hear the school board's petition tomorrow. Twice within the past week Davies has ordered racial mixing to proceed immediately.

The crowd of whites across from the campus dropped to about 100 today as school opened. Yesterday at that hour, the crowd totaled about 250, and swelled to around 700 during the day—the largest of the week's demonstrations.

The relaxed tension was evident among the National Guardsmen. They broke formations and stood in groups talking this morning, although as the hour for school opening approached, they returned to ranks.

Two military vehicles remained at each end of the block, and several trucks were parked in the street.

Today's crowd, like those of previous days, was composed of both men and women of varying ages, and only a sprinkling of teenagers.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who ordered out the troops last Tuesday to keep nine Negro students from entering the high school, yesterday got President Eisenhower's answer to an appeal for intervention in the clash of federal and state authority.

Eisenhower told Faubus that he would use all legal means at his command to uphold the federal Constitution.

The President will interrupt his vacation at Newport, R. I., to return to Washington tomorrow for a conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Whereabouts Unknown
Faubus has not been seen publicly since he held a news conference (Continued on Page 2; Col. 4)

Cuban Revolt Put Down In Bloody Clash

Casualties Heavy In Central Sector, Government Says

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA (U.S.)—President Batista's government claimed today it had crushed an uprising in south central Cuba after day-long fighting against a rebel force supported by naval and maritime police dissidents.

"Many" persons were said to have been killed or wounded in the action at Cienfuegos, 150 miles southeast of Havana, but there was no immediate estimate of casualties.

The government rushed in army planes, tanks, and troops after some 400 rebels seized the police headquarters in the heart of Cienfuegos and threatened to take over the port city of 32,000 persons.

Attacking with bombs, heavy machineguns and small arms, the government forces routed the rebel band. Those who escaped scattered in the hills.

In staging the outbreak members of the armed forces for the first time joined followers of rebel guerrilla leader Fidel Castro.

The rebels held up in the police headquarters just before dawn and held out most of the day against increasingly heavy blows from government military units.

Bombs plastered the police center and caused heavy damage to the City Hall. Machinegun and rifle fire turned the city's streets into a no man's land.

The fighting died out in the late afternoon, and the government announced it had regained control.

A statement issued by Maj. Gen. Francisco Tabares, army chief of staff, and Adm. Rodriguez Calderon said the uprising started at the naval base in Cienfuegos Bay.

State Elephant Kills Keeper At Palace In India

NEW DELHI (U.S.)—India's state elephant, 6-year-old Udhagiri, turned on his attendant today and trampled him to death.

Caught and tamed in the Assam forests of northeast India three years ago, Udhagiri lives at the president's palace and leads all state processions.

When the attendant bent to chain the elephant on their return from a morning walk today, the normally well behaved animal crushed him to death.

Aged Farmer's Housekeeper Gets House, Son Gets Farm

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (U.S.)—R. A. Maxwell, an 81-year-old farmer, was found incapable of handling his affairs after evidence indicated he had spent $1,000 a month for 27 months.

A jury in Probate Court returned the verdict in 20 minutes yesterday after two days of testimony.

Typhoon Delays Trial

Girard Not Ordered To Fire, CO Asserts

MAEBASHI, Japan (U.S.)—William S. Girard had no authorization to fire at anyone the day he is accused of fatally shooting a woman metal scavenger, a statement by his commanding officer said today.

The deposition from Lt. Billy Mohon of Camryn, Tex., read in a Japanese court, said Girard and another soldier were ordered to keep scrap metal collectors away by firing rifles, Mohon answered: "Definitely not."

Other statements read by the Japanese prosecutor quoted scrap metal collectors as saying they frequently were chased away from firing ranges by American soldiers firing empty cartridge casings.

"I was chased away very often," said a statement by Noboru Matsuzawa. "Sometimes they fired, using blank ammunition. Sometimes they used empty cartridge cases, aiming at our feet to scare us."

The statements were read on the second day of Girard's trial before three Japanese judges. He is accused of shooting Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, in the back with an empty cartridge case last Jan. 30.

Girard's defense is that he was carrying out orders while on guard duty. An Army truck driver, Girard was temporarily under Mohon's command.

The manslaughter trial opened Aug. 26 and was recessed until today. Sessions tomorrow and Sunday on the hillside firing range where Mrs. Sakai was killed were postponed because of a typhoon moving up the coast. The sessions were reset for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Super-Secret Bomb Tested

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (U.S.)—The Atomic Energy Commission today fired a small but brilliant super-secret atomic device at its Nevada test site.

The 17th explosion of the current series of nuclear tests was triggered at 5:45 a.m. (EDT) from a balloon anchored 500 feet above the desert floor.

The device, which probably delivered a yield equivalent to only 5,000 tons of TNT compared with the "nominal" yield of 20,000 tons, was one of the most hush-hush explosions of the series.

Stock Market Slack

NEW YORK (U.S.)—The stock market continued its slack performance of this week as prices were irregular and turnover slow in early trading today.

U. S. Fugitive Surrenders At 'Refuge City'

HONOLULU (U.S.)—George Leroy Page, South Carolina fugitive, returns to Honolulu today after an unsuccessful flight to Hawaii's ancient City of Refuge where he sought sanctuary.

Page, 28, surrendered peacefully last night—but under protest at the advice of his attorney. The two policemen who arrested him carried a warrant signed by Farnett L. Turner, who was acting governor of the territory until William F. Quinn's inauguration last Monday.

Page, who escaped the South Carolina Penitentiary in 1954 while serving a life term for murder, slipped out of Honolulu yesterday for the City of Refuge on the island of Hawaii.

His attorney, Bernard K. Trask, insists a right of sanctuary still exists in the "City" dating back to days of the monarchy when Queen Kaahumanu escaped the wrath of King Kamehameha I there in 1789.

Page's sanctuary lasted just four hours in the City of Refuge at Hanalei, which was made a part of the U. S. National Park system by Congress in 1955.

However, the baby is not due for eight months. So the pert actress will go into another picture, "For Love or Money," on Sept. 30.

Peiping Reds Will Permit Prison Visit

LONDON (U.S.)—Members of the group of Americans touring Communist China expect to visit two Americans imprisoned in Peiping tomorrow, the British news agency Reuters reported today from Peiping.

The group has been told that five persons probably will be able to visit each prisoner—provided they obey all prison regulations.

These include no questioning about the charges against them or their trials and no use of cameras or tape recorders.

A Chinese official will be present throughout to stop the interview if the rules are not obeyed.

It is believed here that the two American prisoners are John Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Richard Henry Fecteau of Lynn, Mass. The Reds sentenced Downey to life in prison and Fecteau to 20 years.

The Communists charged that they were dropping supplies to anti-Communist agents in Manchuria while flying on a U. S. plane shot down Nov. 29, 1952.

The United States denied this. The two were civilian employees of the Army in the Far East. They disappeared on a flight from Korea to Tokyo.

The Communists are known to hold at least four other Americans in prison.

Tonight the American youths, with other youth delegations now in Peiping, will be guests at a cocktail party. Premier Chou En-lai is expected to attend.

Jesuits Convened At Vatican City In Special Meet

VATICAN CITY (U.S.)—One of the Roman Catholic Church's most powerful orders, the Jesuits, today opened the sixth "extraordinary congregation" in its 400-year history.

The daily sessions of the order, the Society of Jesus, will continue here for at least a month. The meetings are secret.

No reason was announced for convening the special meeting by the general of the order, the Very Rev. Jan B. Janssens, 67, of Belgium.

Southern Italy Red Leader Quits

COSENZA, Italy (U.S.)—Communist leader Vincenzo Lavorato, "the Red Hyena of Calabria," has quit the party after 40 years, causing a sensation in southern Italy.

Lavorato handed over his party card along with those of 12 other Communists to a leader of the Democratic Christian Party and applied for membership in that staunchly anti-Communist party, which has been forming Italian governments since the end of the war.

Sen. Tabnadge Lauds Faubus

ATLANTA (U.S.)—Sen. Herman Tammadge (D-Ga.) said today the action of Gov. Orval E. Faubus in using the National Guard in the Little Rock, Ark., school integration dispute in an effort to "preserve peace and tranquility" is within the prerogative of the governors of the 48 states.

Court Frees Sergeant On Abuse Claim

FT. CARSON, Colo. (U.S.)—A special court-martial yesterday acquitted 26-year-old Army Sgt. I. C. Alexander Brown of mistreating an infantry basic trainee after five minutes deliberation.

Brown, of Warrington, Fla., denied he struck Pvt. Maurice Willis, 22, of Kansas City, while Willis was a trainee under his supervision with Co. I, 39th Infantry Regiment.

Willis testified that Brown hit him in the stomach and slapped him when Brown called him to a barracks room Aug. 4, because he had been absent the day before when the company was preparing for general inspection. Willis said he suffered a nosebleed but did not have to go to the hospital.

Brown testified he regarded it as his duty as a non-commissioned officer to discipline trainees. He said he felt a special obligation as a Negro to work harder with other Negroes to keep them from being as the Army wanted them to. Willis also is a Negro.

Test Ban Asked By Trade Unions

BLACKPOOL, England (U.S.)—Britain's Trade Union Congress, central body of the nation's labor movement, today called for an immediate halt to the manufacture and testing of nuclear bombs.

Without dissent, the resolution was adopted on the final day of the 89th TUC meeting. The TUC represents more than 8 1/2 million trade unionists.

The TUC is the industrial wing of the British labor movement. It exercises a dominant influence in the Labor party. The official Labor party stand is opposition to tests but not to British manufacture of nuclear weapons.

Probers Scan Activities Of Nixon Friend

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—House investigators said today they are studying some cases in which they said West Coast lawyer Murray Chotiner represented clients in matters before federal agencies.

Chotiner is a Los Angeles Republican who managed Vice President Nixon's campaign in 1952.

Chotiner was mentioned yesterday, among dozens of others, in a report by the Senate Investigations subcommittee on a 1956 probe of alleged irregularities in procurement of military clothing.

The report did not in any way criticize Chotiner, whose name came up last year as a former lawyer for some clothing manufacturers the subcommittee was investigating.

Testifying under oath, Chotiner told the subcommittee he never used his associations with Nixon to seek favors for any client. He also said he never used any influence in his law practice.

The investigations group said in its report that William A. Parzow of Philadelphia, described as a convicted jury tamperer, had testified he hardly knew Chotiner but that Chotiner had told the subcommittee he did know Parzow.

Chotiner testified that Parzow recommended a clothing manufacturer to him for some law business.

The subcommittee said the Justice Department has been asked to examine Parzow's testimony for possible perjury action.

Elusive Check Passer Captured

CLEVELAND (U.S.)—For 11 years he was being sought by police all over the country.

"I don't know his face but I'd recognize his handwriting anywhere," Schroeder said. A policeman for 22 years and a handwriting expert, he had rounded up evidence as Speedie crossed the country at least 30 times passing checks under nearly 50 aliases.

Last night Lt. Schroeder confronted Charles R. Speedie, 51, of San Fernando, Calif. Speedie was arrested yesterday afternoon in suburban Middleburgh Heights.

Speedie for three hours during which they said, he spoke "thousands of words saying nothing."

"He readily admitted his guilt," Schroeder said, "but he refused to discuss details."

Speedie finally offered an unusual proposal. He would plead guilty if all the states who wanted him would lump their charges together into one federal charge.

If they refused, he said, he would plead innocent and fight any attempts to extradite him.

Police said Ohio, where he passed between 75 and 100 bad checks, would have first call on prosecuting him. California would probably be next.

Schroeder said it was easy to see why Speedie was so successful. "He seems to be a very kind man and has a pleasing personality," he said.

"But he's a very cunning person and had a highly organized operation."

Speedie never cashed large checks, usually limiting himself to around $50. He said he started passing phony checks in 1945.

Teamsters' Leaders Look For Ouster By AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON—Some leaders of the Teamsters Union expect their organization to be kicked out of the AFL-CIO on corruption charges.

Thomas L. Hickey, of New York, a Teamsters vice president, said after an AFL-CIO hearing on the charges yesterday that "I think they'll put us out." Several other Teamsters chiefs privately shared that view.

But some highly placed AFL-CIO officials said they were not so sure of a Teamsters ouster. These chieftains held hopes, despite little firm evidence, that the Teamsters will adopt substantial reforms at their Sept. 30 convention in Miami.

They said as things stand now, the federation's Ethical Practices Committee and its Executive Council will convict the Teamsters on charges of being corruptly dominated.

Teamsters leaders told the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee yesterday they intend to submit all corruption charges against the union to their Miami convention. They also said they would propose revising Teamsters rules to give members a greater voice in running the union.

There was nothing specific in the promise, however, and the Teamsters restated a policy, contrary to that of the AFL-CIO, of not punishing any union official for invoking the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions in probes of union corruption.

The Teamsters also refused to consider punishing any union official under criminal charges until his last avenue of appeal had been exhausted. Even then, they said, any action would be up to a Teamsters convention.

The charges that the Teamsters are corruptly dominated stem from Senate Rackets Committee disclosures in 1956 of retiring Teamsters President Dave Beck and James R. Hoffa, now Midwest Teamsters boss and the leading candidate to succeed Beck.

Beck has been charged with misusing vast sums of Teamsters funds. He is under indictment on federal income tax evasion charges. Hoffa has been charged by rackets probes with accepting favors from employers and associating with known hoodlums and racketeers.

Hoffa and other union officials denied any wrongdoing yesterday in appearing before the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. They minimized the charges by the Senate committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark). They said those charges were unwarranted and involved only "certain individuals and local situations," not the entire Teamsters Union.

Fall Weather Covers North

By The Associated Press
The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes today. Autumn-like weather continued in most of the northern areas from the Plains states to New England. Some of the cool air which covered the Northeast dipped into the northern sections of the Gulf Coast states.

Temperatures in the cool belt were mostly in the 60s but were down to the 50s and some 40s in northern areas from New England westward through the Great Lakes region and into the Dakotas.

Clash Marks Negro Church Vote Dispute

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Forces opposed to the re-election of a Chicago pastor as president of the nation's largest Negro religious group have indicated they may take the matter to court.

Dispute over the matter yesterday resulted in four arrests by police at the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., following a chair-swinging brawl on the speaker's platform.

Dr. Joseph H. Jackson was re-elected Wednesday after he ruled a 1952 amendment limiting the president to four one-year terms was unconstitutional. He claimed his re-election by acclamation was unanimous.

But yesterday opposition forces stormed the platform and demanded reading of the minutes of Wednesday's meeting. Someone tried to remove one or two of them forcibly, and a free-for-all broke out.

Arrested on charges of disorderly conduct were Cleveland Jordan, 53, Greenwood, Miss., farmer; the Rev. Charles C. Wheeler, 43, Chicago; the Rev. William A. Bailey, 58, Los Angeles; and the Rev. Roy W. Norworthy, 42, Memphis.

A group of anti-Jackson forces said James M. Nabrit Jr., Washington, D.C., attorney, has been retained to make a court test of Dr. Jackson's reelection.

Russia's Claim On Farm Output Held Unrealistic

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department today termed unrealistic a Soviet claim that within a few years Russia will equal or outstrip American per capita production of meat and dairy products.

An article in a department publication, Foreign Agriculture, did not say flatly the claim by Soviet Communist party boss Khrushchev would not be achieved. But it detailed reasons why this result is considered unlikely.

In a May 22 speech in Leningrad, Khrushchev said per capita milk production in the United States last year was 756 pounds compared with 540 in Russia, that American butter production was 8.4 pounds compared with 6.2 there, and that meat production in this country was 225 pounds compared with 71 in Russia.

"The department publication said a number of handicaps work against a rapid increase of Soviet livestock production.

Perhaps the most important of these, it said, is the feed supply in Russia. It said this has been a perennial weak spot in the Soviet livestock industry.

The publication said labor was another problem—that three to five Russian farm workers are required to do the job of one in the United States. Another handicap, the publication said, is the Soviet Union's lack of quality stock.

The article noted that Khrushchev's former associates were skeptical of his targets.

The article said that while figures given by Khrushchev for United States meat-dairy production are approximately correct, those for the Soviet Union appear to be too high for milk and meat.

Strong Talk From Ike Would Be Welcome

WASHINGTON—The irreverent thought occurred, after sitting in the steam bath at President Eisenhower's last news conference before his vacation, that it might get to be fun around Washington again if, just once, our President would break through the crust of amiability "on the one hand . . . on the other" and its accompanying platitudes.

And would bust right out and take a position strongly on some issue, as he does only on foreign aid, and would take a poke at somebody and use stout language such as Teddy Roosevelt's "male factors of great wealth" or his description of a Supreme Court justice of his day as "a fuzzy-wuzzy with sweetbread brains," or something so bold and blazing and so highly controversial that somebody would start throwing epithets back at him.

THIS LATEST news conference offered the perfect excuse, physically. The customary scene of these meetings, the old Treaty Room in the Rococo Building that once housed the State, War and Navy Departments in less globally turbulent days, was perhaps the hottest and most humid hole in Washington on one of the capital's most uncomfortable days.

The 200 odd newspapermen and women packed together there were at the point of frustration where a big explosion of some kind from the President would have been welcome as a sudden thunder shower.

But not so. One newspaperman said to the group with which he walked away from the scene: "You know, I almost fell asleep about half way through." And then, catching himself, added,

"And that would have been awful, wouldn't it?"

It would, though less majestic is not so sharply defined around here any more, and there is more free speech among the buck privates.

ANOTHER irreverent thought occurred, and it was in the field of those election analyses upon which political reporters pride themselves and which most recently have centered on the case of Wisconsin. All that happened there, when you come down to it, was that a Democrat got more votes than a Republican, a fairly common occurrence in Congressional, state and local elections.

Is there, however, a new "factor" in elections? Are our people beginning to get a bit weary of the friendly, above-the-battle attitude of our President who never wants to fuss with anybody about anything? Are they beginning to hanker for somebody who will put up a scrap? You will remember how the Greeks finally got tired of hearing about Aristides the Just. The President finally has learned what an uncomfortable task it is to try to please everybody and how, no matter what you do, people in your own party will quarrel among themselves and go into huffs, as happened in Wisconsin.

ONCE AGAIN he reiterated his advocacy of the middle of the road. But, for the first time, he grumbled a bit about how hard it is to keep the middle of the road. You get it from both sides. But, nevertheless, he is going to continue to struggle to get our people to see the benefits of middle-of-the-road government, he promised.

He sought to minimize the differences in his party. Why, he said, he sat down the other day with a group which newspaper correspondents would label as "right-wingers" and he and they were able to come to an agreement on most every issue.

So down the middle of the road he went as one problem after another was brought up by the assembled newsmen and women.

What about inflation? Is he going to do anything about the high cost of living? He pronounced inflation our major internal problem, which was the farthest he has gone yet on that subject. In this conclusion, he was about a week behind the Democratic party's Senate leader, Lyndon B. Johnson, who has done no more about it than has the Administration.

RIGHT OFF, the President emphasized, as he has so often before, that he is against government controls. He repeated the lecture on that subject we have heard so often, about how controls would end America as we know it, etc. The government is concerned, he said, and is having conferences with business about inflation, and the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board are shaping their policies to combat it.

As for the rest of us, he recommended that we should buy selectively and carefully, something that most of us began doing without waiting for the signal from him. He wouldn't, however, recommend a buyers' strike. Why not? Wouldn't it have been fun if he had? But he never surprises.

Phony Surveys Mask Skip Tracing Work

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Devices used by skip tracers to locate people who may have run out on unpaid bills reveal an ingenious range of come-ons to lure unsuspecting debtors.

In January the U. S. Federal Trade Commission issued a complaint against Certified Service Co., of New York. It sent out, in metered mail, forms from a mythical "Employment Review Office, Washington, D. C." They advised recipients that "This Office Requires That You Fill Out This Form. All Questions Must Be Answered."

The obvious but unstated impression was that this was a U. S. government agency seeking information. But anyone filling out the forms would simply be giving up-to-date information on present address and employment. This would then be used for filing claims for payment of bad debts.

"Employment Review Office, Washington, D. C." in this case turned out to be simply a mail drop in a public stenographer's office in the National Press Building.

But after the FTC complaint was filed, connection with Certified Service Co. was discontinued.

ANOTHER technique was used by the "Cigarette and Tobacco Research Bureau," with a mail drop in the good tobacco town of Richmond, Va.

From here, questionnaires were sent out to unsuspecting jumpers of bills, saying that a national survey was being made to determine cigarette brand popularity. Anyone filling out the form and mailing it in would be sent a pack of his favorite brand free.

Anyone filling in the card might get the cigarettes all right. But shortly thereafter there would be a knock on the door from a bill collector who had run down an other debtor.

A variation of this subterfuge was used by National Gasoline Research Bureau of Oklahoma City, another blind.

It sent out forms to hard-to-locate debtors, saying that a survey was being made to determine the most popular brand of gasoline in a given area. Just fill in the card, listing preference, and a check would be forthcoming for a few gallons.

THESE gasoline and cigarette come-ons were the creations of National Research Co., of Washington, D. C., and its exclusive sales agency, S. Floersheim Sales Co., Los Angeles.

Murray Chotiner, California GOP campaign manager, was mentioned in congressional hearings as having been one of the attorneys for this group. It included, among others, the Claims Office, Reverification Office, United States Credit Control Office, Office of Employment Re-classification and others. All are fictitious.

Their Washington office is listed as 422 Washington Bldg., which is right across 15th street from the U. S. Treasury. Actually, Room 422 is a telephone answering service. But one of the girls there said National Research had offices on the seventh floor.

A trip to the seventh floor revealed that only the number "7" in gilt letters was left on the door of 738 and adjacent rooms. But across the hall in 745 was National Research Co.

There was a typewritten sign on the door saying that if nobody was there, the caller should go to room 422.

A YOUNG man in his shirt sleeves running an addressing machine, was the sole occupant. Yes, he represented National Research, and yes they were in the skip-tracing business—collecting bad accounts for banks, chain stores and the like.

But the Claims Office, the Reverification Office and the U. S. Credit Control Bureau, he said, were no longer in operation. They are all still listed in Washington's new phone directory.

At Federal Trade Commission headquarters, however, it is revealed that the government is making a compliance check on National Research Co., against which it issued a misrepresentation

Glancing Sideways

WACO, Tex. — Friends are people who will let you use their washing machine. The Waco McKinnies are friends — they let us use their washing machine.

After six or more weeks of travel and two Waco dinner parties, the time had come. Clothes had to be washed. Gene's bride said, "Come on over early and get your washing done instead of dabbling things out in a motel basin."

Friends, also, are people who will take you to a fine craftsman of a tailor to get a pair of trousers altered. To Western Union to send a few wires, to the dealer in your make of car to get it slicked up and readjusted after its bouts with Mexican gasoline, and all while the wash is purring in their machine. Anybody can sit home and pour lemonade in the cool. It takes a friend to get out in the heat and beat the streets with you while you attend to chores.

HOLT MASSEY is a friend, too, because an hour of visit isn't enough to scratch the edge of talk. He likes to spend a day at it, so you start with Holt at 10 in the morning, drive out to a magnificent lake, come back, talk in his hunting room for an hour and then go to Sambo's, which is the best barbecue spot outside of New Orleans and, for all I know, it's even better.

You come back from the barbecue, having had giant shrimp in a sauce of perfection and peppered sausage, and you tell Holt you'll go back to Bill Wood's place now because you have to do some work.

"It could wait until tomorrow," he says. "We haven't had any talk yet."

THAT SUITS you, so you talk for another hour and then you do go back to Bill's and shower and freshen up just in time to meet Paul Baker. You go out to his place to meet his three enchanting daughters, see his new living room and look at Sallie's ceramics, which are phenomenal.

Then you and the Bakers go back to Holt's and meet the Taggers, the Buchanans and the Olinbushes, and when it is about 9 o'clock you pile into cars and go out to a dinner Lucille has planned at the club.

On the way, Buchanan gives your daughters a peck of fresh Texas figs and Holt gives them an orange watermelon big enough to founder a liner.

It is a magnificent dinner of wild rice, squash, cold, crisp salad and a flaming desert.

THIS TIME, when midnight comes, you say good-bye and thank you to three days of Waco hospitality. Holt says, "Why, you can't go off that way in the morning. You have to come by for coffee for the road." So you bend like a willow and agree to come by for coffee.

There, on the edge of the morning, you do say good-bye — reluctantly. Herman Olinbush tells you of running out of gasoline at the King Ranch and, "It was 57 miles to the next gas station."

"Still on the King Ranch?" you ask.

"Of course," he says. "They have their own gas stations."

Well, boys and girls of Waco, it's only 90 miles to Dallas and you could truck that into the King Ranch, too, but if I stay one more day in Waco I'll live the rest of my life.

Not that I wouldn't like to.

Pass The Mustard Please

WASHINGTON—I wouldn't exactly say that the toothbrush is doomed, but there's a new pill on the market about the size of an aspirin tablet. You pop one in your mouth and chew.

Your cheeks fill with foam that rizzes between your teeth. This is something like producing a small volcano in your mouth, but when the activity dies down, your teeth are supposed to be clean.

There also is being tested in the West by several breweries orange, grape, and cola-flavored beer.

This is real beer, all right, except for the hops; it tastes like soda pop with a small wallop.

POWDERED orange juice, long the subject of research by the Agriculture Department, finally has been perfected and soon will be for sale. Powdered tomato juice, packed in envelopes, is ready for market, too.

In cold water, it makes tomato juice; in hot, soup. I have not yet tasted these powdered juices, but the scientists insist they have come up with a natural, fresh taste. If so, they'll save a lot of shipping space now devoted to water.

It may be that the professors also will start pushing their freshly powdered eggs again. These during the last war got a bad name; they smelled like the shipping platform of a sulphur refinery and tasted worse.

Powdered eggs since then have been vastly improved; when scrambled in milk, the experts claim, they can't be told from the fresh article. This development has arrived in the nick.

OUR GROCER was seething the other afternoon when I dropped by for a loaf of bread. He said he'd just bought a couple of cases of Grade-A, large-size eggs and he'd had to pay 70 cents a dozen for them, wholesale. He said he expected soon he'd be charging housewives something better than a dollar a dozen.

What made him sore, he said, was the fact that the big butter and egg man with whom he does business blamed Asiatic flu for the soaring prices of hen fruit. The vaccine to combat this disease is prepared in fresh, fertile eggs.

The grocer insisted that there were plenty of eggs to eat as well as to turn into medicine, and he claimed the egg men simply used the flu as an excuse.

THAT BRINGS us eventually to mustard, and what that has to do with tooth-polishing pills I think I can explain. You've heard the old tale about the manufacturer getting their profits, not from the mustard people eat, but from what they leave on their plates. The waste in mustard lard, when you add it up, is tremendous.

All over Europe now mustard comes in standard toothpaste tubes. On European airlines the stewardesses serve miniature, individual tubes of mustard and catsup, too.

Food processors abroad also are using tubes for jellies, jams, mayonnaise, and honey. This use of squeeze tubes for a variety of gooey, runny foods has proven popular with European housewives, who hate waste. It also has kept mustard off many a short front.

ONLY FOODS sold so far in America in tubes are anchovy paste and soft cheeses, which roll out in neat, cuticle-on crackers. Other food processors have steered clear of the idea because those tubes are costly. But if people clean their teeth with pills, there'll be plenty of tubes for other things, and I wouldn't be surprised if soon I'm squeezing out a peanut butter sandwich and washing it down with raspberry-flavored beer.

One other thing: I bought a new tube of old-fashioned toothpaste last night. It had a plastic cap four times bigger than before. A vast improvement for a butterfingers like me.

Smokescreen

IT IS axiomatic that the people have a right to know about the people's business. Government is the people's business. But government, especially in Washington, operates behind a smoke-screen of needless and unjustifiable secrecy.

This broad generalization can be amply documented. The "confidential" stamp, instead of being a valuable security guard, is used freely on all sorts of government papers. There is plenty of reason to believe that the secrecy label is sometimes used to hide blunders and incompetence.

The situation is so bad that both the press and Congress have been aroused. It was summed up well in a recent story by Jack Wilson in the Minneapolis Tribune: "Every day, federal agencies are making decisions that affect your business, your health, your right to live as you please. Some of them, in this H-bomb era, may determine whether you go on living at all."

"But you are not allowed to know why the decisions were made, whether the reasons for them were valid, or even, in some cases, whether they are actually based on a decision."

This is completely unacceptable to the American public. Our whole system is based on the concept that we govern ourselves through our chosen representatives. If they, and those hired to help them conduct the business of government, can operate in secret, the whole idea of responsibility to the people will be seriously impaired.

A certain amount of secrecy is necessary in matters relating to the national defense. Beyond that, it is hard to justify a "confidential" stamp on any item of public business. When too many secrets are kept from the people, democracy suffers.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Will men ever be equal to women?

That is the greatest sex drama in America during the 20th century.

Male optimists see many signs to indicate that man's long struggle for equal rights will have a hopeful outcome.

Slowly and artfully men have lured women into the pursuit of manly prerogatives while they themselves have steadily infiltrated in the opposite direction and begun to share in privileges formerly enjoyed only by women.

As a result the superficial differences between the sexes has narrowed to a point where a psychologist observed this week:

"A new cultural pattern is emerging in which hardly any activity or attitude is 'exclusively masculine' or 'exclusively feminine' anymore."

EACH SEX is trading the other sex its own particular pleasures and duties.

Today's wife can talk baseball and politics, likes to fish, yearns to go on a safari to Africa, hates to sew on buttons. But so does today's husband.

"Doesn't all this prove that men are at least equal to women?" asks the boyish optimist.

No, indeed.

Man has always enjoyed more muscle, brains, charm and character than woman. But woman has an inner resource that has always carried her to the top in the past and probably always will.

Some call this resource woman's "sixth sense." It isn't actually a sense at all, and doesn't really make sense.

Woman's natural superiority consists only in this: That the blind laws of chance bear inexorably down on man but chivalrously spare her. Woman is born lucky. Man isn't. That's all there is to it.

FIFTY MEN AND one woman, all desperately anxious to get to the railroad station to catch a train, will step into a crowded street on a snowy day.

One cab will loom out of the flying flakes, and the woman will get it—by pure chance not through the gallantry of the cab driver. She will catch her train. The 50 men will miss theirs.

A man can go to a race track and wildly place his bets on the colors the jockeys are wearing and he will lose his shirt. A woman who does this will come home with enough of the track's money to buy a new outfit.

If right now you walked into a dime store and said, "Give me a pomegranate," you'd be tossed out of the place as crazy. But if a woman, on a sudden impulse, did the same thing, she'd find out that for the first time in history the dime store was selling pomegranates six for a quarter.

Men equal to women? Never, never never—so long as the turning earth is ruled by blind chance, woman's secret weapon, instead of reason, man's broken sword.

Assignment America

NEW YORK — I often wonder whom Hollywood promotion writers who cling to those celluloid clichés think they're kidding. Can a dazzling, glittering old movie land, honestly believe it will lure sand educated people to the box office with an ad that relates how "The Loud and The Nasty" is "the explosive depth of degradation!"

If the claim were true, perhaps the movie would do a mean business, as there are any number of devotees to degradation and its allied realisms these days.

But the trouble is, the promise and the premise are shaky and consequently nobody pays any attention. I doubt that if a newspaper composing room should goof, and slip a phrase like "Slack and Shocking" into an ad for something starring Debbie Reynolds, more than one out of 100 readers would notice.

In fact, when a movie-goer casts his eye over the simple word "smash," he is likely to figure—in the back of his mind where lodges the logic—that this is a dog of a show that needs plenty of help from the promotion department.

THIS MATTER came to mind after a Supreme Court Justice in New York ruled that Arlene Dahl, actress, had "not been injured" except in her own eyes by movie advertising which she claimed was "obscene, degrading and offensive."

Miss Dahl insisted that she had been not only taken aback, but professionally wounded, by Columbia Pictures' sexy promotion of her new film—but could revive her self-respect and feel much better with a million-dollar salute.

Justice Henry Greenberg, in dismissing her suit, said that "continued blatant emphasis upon sex is so obvious a box office appeal that almost everyone discounts such advertising."

The good Judge, of course, was right. But his reference to blatancy goes not only for sex, but for vice, murder, horror, fun and travelogues. When all these are the greatest, the wickedest, the remotest, the most and the mightiest—who's to give credence? Surely not the man who respects his time and admires his pocketbook.

Only the realistic, mundane, slice-of-life picture which is so popular these days has escaped the colossal cliché.

But this is only because the ad writers have been thinking big and scintillating thoughts for too long; they'll come to it eventually—flashing out the words "the most ordinary picture of the year" in glaring black letters so that even the ordinary takes on the same unrelenting unreality that all the other clichés convey.

SINCE THE DAHL dilemma, we've made a survey of the film ads in New York City and find that, this week at least, sex is barely holding its own against crime ("ripped out of today's headlines") and tragedy ("the flame that made her a star . . . was the flame that consumed her . . .").

The kindly quotes from movie critics, ripped rapturously from otherwise-critical reviews, also feature the unsexy elements of the current Broadway fare. They refer, instead, to suspense loading, wow impact, opulent production and sophisticated chuckling.

The cynical movie-goer, so long on slaugth with these grand and meaningless phrases, has long since stepped reading the big "print." These days, I should think, he ignores the pictures and the adjectives and attends the cinema closest to his doorstep.

It may be Jass C. Bul, by George, he doesn't have to anticipate "the most fervid love scenes of the season" or go home disenchanted.

Russian Bludgeon

PROBING THE Soviet Union's motives in any major maneuver is like looking for a light switch in a long, black tunnel. On its face Russia's terrific blast against Western disarmament proposals looks to be a virtual death blow to the London disarmament talks among the big powers. It may be that, and may have been intended as such. On the other hand, some U. S. specialists feel that the Soviet purpose is not to kill the talks but to put the Western nations on the spot before world opinion. The goal, of course, would be to compel the West to yield its vital NATO bases strung from Scandinavia to the Middle East. Russia appears to believe that with a sufficient build-up of pressure from neutrals and others, this abandonment might be forced.

THE EXPERTS noted that Valerian Zorin, Soviet delegate to the London talks, accused the West of ringing Russia with more and more bases. The effort is to convince world opinion that we are playing a double game, preparing for war against the Soviet Union while talking disarmament. Yet if the underlying motive is to try for the thousandth time to undercut NATO, the Kremlin is going about it in a curious way. Zorin's blast against the Western plan, which includes a two-year ban on output of nuclear material for military purposes, was considered the roughest attack since the Cold War's early days.

HE BOASTED of Russia's alleged ability today to bring mass destruction to any corner of the earth. He used his government's claim of having successfully fired a long-range ballistic missile as if it were a club with which he could force the West to adopt Russia's disarmament plans. How bitter language and threats of destruction are supposed to persuade the world that Russia is peace-loving while we are bent upon war is a mystery that only the Soviet propagandists can solve. One would imagine that millions of people around the globe would be more likely to believe as President Eisenhower does, that the latest Soviet course could "condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

A MAN WHO WAS whistling because he was happy recently was warned that he was disturbing the peace. His neighbors apparently don't care whether he's whistling a jig or the blues, just so he does it very softly.

A Fumbled Clue

THE OBLIQUE rehabilitation of the late Marshal Tukhachevsky, killed because of Stalin's mad jealousy, should remind some of our experts, our policy directors and propagandists that they fall on their faces more often than they do on the ball when it rolls loose upon the gridiron. The case of Tukhachevsky could have been documented and beamed to the world after Khrushchev's secret speech, delivered to the 20th congress of the Communist party. An effort could thus have been made to force the hand of Khrushchev and, possibly, to drive him to release more of the truth than he has done. Now, as a result of the fact that this clue was not picked up, the Russians can try to cover up Stalin's murders of his generals in 1937 by describing it all as a triumph of the Nazi intelligence service. That is not the truth. But it is not too late. Why is not a studied account of Tukhachevsky's career published? There is, for instance, reason to believe that Stalin was jealous and fearful of Tukhachevsky because in the Polish war of 1920 Stalin double-crossed Tukhachevsky, one of Trotsky's marshals. When Tukhachevsky's Red army was at the gates of Warsaw, Stalin, political commissar of an army which should have supported Tukhachevsky's flank, is rumored to have intrigued and actually caused the defeat of the Red army. Let this story be told to the world. Let a study of the Polish campaign and of Stalin's role in it be made. There are many issues of truth and many questions of Russian history to be raised, studied and publicized. Here is one. It might force Khrushchev to release more of the truth about Russian history since 1917.

ON VACATION it's hard to decide which illits away faster, time or money.

Calvary Methodist Church To Dedicate New Addition

Calvary Methodist Church, WSCS of the church, assisted by Ridgeley, will hold consecration services and formal opening of its new educational addition Sunday at 3 p. m.

Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, said the dedication service will climax over a year of planning and building of the new structure.

The program will be followed by open house and refreshments will be served by members of the church.

The other two phases were the financial campaign for the building funds and the actual construction of the new educational unit, which was completed a few days ago by J. F. Valentine and Sons.

The total building and improvement budget covers a three-year period and represents an investment of $47,052. The building committee is headed by Leon C. Hammond, James Perry and Rev. Mr. May.

More than one and one-half million people are employed in wood-using industries in the United States.

The four-day course sponsored by the Fire Service Extension of the University under direction of Robert C. Byrnes, was attended by volunteer firemen, paid firemen and firemen personnel of industry in Maryland as well as firemen from a number of states along the Eastern seaboard.

Three hundred men registered for the course and received training in all phases of firefighting with the use of the latest type equipment.

Del. Lester B. Reed of Allegheny County also is a member of the Potomac River Committee.

At Kitzmiller session on Monday, a tour will be made of the river to check flood control needs in Shallowford and Kitzmiller. The tour will be followed by a luncheon at noon and a discussion with town officials and interested citizens on the local problem. Then the group will leave for Cumberland to meet with officials here.

During the present drought, Del. Harry Edwards, Grantsville, a committee member, noted especially during August, 45.6 per cent of the flow of the Potomac River at Cumberland came from the Savage River reservoir. Additional dams on the Savage River or upstream on the Potomac itself, he declared, will conserve great quantities of water for use in drought periods, thus benefiting everyone all along the stream.

The purpose of these meetings, he explained, is to gather information and to help familiarize the members of the committee from all parts of the state with the problem.

The state can then use its influence to get federal projects or federal assistance on development projects under way, he said.

After 27 Years' Reporting—

She's Handling GOP Public Relations

By ALICIA HART

NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — If the GOP thinks it's getting a frilly, giggling dame as its new public relations consultant, it's in for some surprises.

Ruth Cowan Nash, who was appointed to the post to take on some of the duties recently dropped by Mrs. Anne Wheaton, newly appointed assistant White House press secretary, is a reporter's reporter.

In her 27 years working for a wire service, Mrs. Nash proved that she was as tough as they come and that she could cover any story a man could cover. She made a name for herself in Chicago covering crime stories during the Al Capone era and was the first woman accredited as a war correspondent in Europe during World War II.

World War II friends remember her as the woman who demonstrated "How to Slay a Bleach-Head on a Beach-Head." She carried 12 bottles of bleach with her overseas and kept her tresses shiny throughout the war.

Reporters at the Pentagon, after the war, remember her as a charming lady and a top reporter. One old Washington hand says: "Ruth never used her femininity to get a story, but she got the beat on us many times."

The new public relations consultant "married" into the GOP. Strictly nonpartisan during her years as a reporter, she became a Republican last June when she retired to wed Deputy Undersecretary of Commerce Bradley Nash.

Although reared in the usually Democratic state of Texas, Mrs. Nash says she has never registered to vote in any state and has never claimed any political affiliation. And since her marriage, she says, "there just isn't room for two schools of thought on politics in one family."

Born in Salt Lake City, Utah, she later lived in Homestead, Fla. She attended the University of Texas, graduating as a political science major. Her journalistic ambitions were born the day she found out reporters got free passes to the movies. She is a former president of the Women's National Press Club.

The Nashes live in a renovated old white farmhouse on a hilltop at Harpers Ferry, Va. She is a talented cook and enjoys preparing special dishes; but, like many housewives, hates washing the dishes. This job she leaves to her political husband.

CHANGES HER 'NEWS' BEAT—A reporter's reporter is Ruth Cowan Nash, shown in the midst of her duties as new GOP public relations consultant. She covered crime and war during more than a quarter century with a wire service.

W. Va. State Colleges Present Future Budgets

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Presidents of nine state colleges have handed the Board of Education budget requests for the 1958-59 fiscal year which totaled $19,775,914.

The board, launching a two-day session here, will study the colleges' requests before sending them to George B. Vieweg Jr., director of finance and administration. The budget requests then go to the Board of Public Works and finally to the next Legislature for final action.

In the combined budgets, $11,787,000 was asked for capital expenditures. Personal services accounted for $6,329,893; current ex-

Apartment Fire Caused By Stove

A North Centre Street apartment was damaged by a fire yesterday afternoon which was caused by an overheated stove in a restaurant downstairs.

Flames from paper and cardboard being burned caused the chimney to become overheated and set fire to a combination radio and record player in the apartment. The fire had burned through the floor and was going down the joists before it was quenched, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Firemen had inspected the restaurant Wednesday and ordered the proprietor to dispose of an accumulation of paper and cardboard.

Expenditures totaled $639,330; repairs and alterations added $423,972, and $546,619 for equipment completed the breakdown. The colleges include Concord, Bluefield State, Fairmont State, Glenville, Marshall, Shepherd State, West Virginia Tech, West Virginia State and West Liberty.

Vacation's Over Until Next June

By The Associated Press
For some 6,000 Howard County school children that all-too-brief summer vacation ends today and another school year gets underway. Classes began earlier this week in Baltimore City and 21 other counties.

An estimated 15,000 students in Harford County will begin classes Monday—the last to open. About 430,000 youngsters trudged to school for the fall term yesterday in Baltimore City and sixteen counties. Another 400,000 in Frederick, Carroll, Dorchester, Charles and Garrett counties started back to school earlier this week. The State Department of Education estimated that when all schools are open some 518,769 children will be enrolled.

Exact opening day enrollment figures were not immediately available in Baltimore City, but State officials estimate that by October the figure should be 160,918. Last year's figure was 154,996.

City school officials said about 7,000 students were placed on split shifts because of overcrowded conditions, despite several new school buildings.

The situation in Baltimore County was more serious. About 12,500 students of an estimated enrollment of 74,610 were placed on double shifts or forced to use makeshift facilities.

Enrollment in Anne Arundel County was estimated at 34,320. About 3,000 of these were attending classes on a split shift basis.

The State Department of Education estimated that 16,080 children began classes in Allegany County and 3,727 in Calvert County.

Other opening day figures included: Caroline County, 4,105; Cecil County, 9,256; and Kent County, 3,147.

Other schools opened yesterday for the fall term in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Washington, Wicomico, Talbot, St. Marys, Worcester, Somerset, Queen Annes and Calvert counties.

Frederick Board Fails To Act On SRC Request

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—The Board of Aldermen last night failed to take action on a State Roads Commission request that the city abandon property in the path of the proposed Frederick By-Pass.

Members of the roads commission, attending the meeting, heard strong protests from local residents against both the by-pass itself and against a proposed interchange at Fourth Street.

The roads commission at a meeting last month called on the city fathers to close seven streets in the northwest section of town. This is generally a residential area.

During a sometimes stormy meeting, the aldermen heard protests from residents, asked the roads commission representatives questions, and then adjourned into executive session without taking action on the commission request.

Alderman Charles T. Staley asked Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general for the roads commission, if the State had the right to condemn the property.

Buscher replied the State could and Staley asked: "Why should we vote for abandonment if the State gets what it wants by condemnation?"

Attorney Richard E. Zimmerman, who said he represented several hundred persons opposed to a Fourth Street interchange, said his group objects to the prospect of heavy traffic on what is already a heavily traveled street.

Others in the crowd protested that the influx of out-of-town traffic would endanger local children.

Lions Form Pony Express

FREDERICK (AP)—Forty-five Lions are forming a "pony express" to transport 10-year-old Danilea Diette's pet from here to Texas.

The little girl lost the sight of one eye in an accident about a year ago and the other eye was seriously damaged. She expressed a desire for a pony, and her wish was fulfilled last March when she won a pony on a television program.

Danilea's father, Sgt. Daniel Diette, was transferred in June from nearby Ft. Detrick to Ft. Bliss, Tex. The family wasn't able to take the pony, so it was left here.

The local Lions' Club decided to do something about reuniting Danilea and her pet. So the pony will be loaded into a trailer next week and a member of the local club will drive it on the first leg of the trip to Texas.

About 45 Lions' Club members from various units across the country will drive in relays to get the pony to Ft. Bliss.

Pair Receives Ten Years On Safecracking

One Man Says He Was Not Interested In Money Stolen

Two men who participated in the safecracking at a hardware store in Friendsville on July 29 were tried today in Garrett County Circuit Court at Oakland and sentenced to 10 years each in the state penitentiary by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

They are Elwood Kissner, 26, formerly of Friendsville, who had been residing in Baltimore and Oliver Rockett, 33, also of Baltimore.

A total of $37,510 was taken from the safe of the F. G. Fox and Sons Hardware Store with $25,000 of the total in non-negotiable U.S. savings bonds.

Enter Guilty Pleas
When brought before Judge Fraley the two men entered pleas of guilty to grand larceny and breaking and entering through their attorneys, E. Ray Jones for Kissner and William Treacy for Rockett.

Kissner, who had no previous criminal record, told the court that he was not so much interested in the money but "just wanted to see a safe cracked." He also admitted he "fingered" the hardware store for Rockett and the third man who is still at large. Kissner said he did not realize at the time that the safe would contain such a large sum.

Judge Fraley told the two men that it was a serious crime and the amount of money involved is the largest sum ever stolen in Garrett County as far as he could recall.

Rockett had a criminal record and admitted that he had burned the $25,000 worth of bonds in the back yard of his home in Baltimore.

Arrested In Baltimore
The two men were arrested a few days after the crime in Baltimore by police in that city who acted on "tip from a reliable source." About $4,400 was recovered from a rock pile near Friendsville and another $1,900 was located at the Richmond, Va., home of relatives of one of the men.

The third man, identified as Earl Franklin, is believed to have escaped with between $6,000 and $7,000 of the loot. He is described as a professional safecracker.

Sheriff James Frantz has the men in custody at the county jail in Oakland and he said they will be taken to the state penitentiary early next week to begin their sentence.

Police To Return Man Wanted On County Charges

A Frostburg man who has been sought since May 24 will be returned today from Uniontown, Pa., to face charges of assault and attempt to rape.

Sgt. William F. Baker and Trooper Donald R. Wade of the LaVale State Police barracks were to escort 38-year-old Albert (Porkchop) Cole to this county after being informed by Uniontown authorities that the man had waived extradition.

He was arrested there yesterday on a pickup issued by Maryland State Police, authorities explaining that the Federal Bureau of Investigation also had issued a warrant for Cole's arrest charging him with unlawful flight to avoid arrest. That warrant will be dropped, police said.

Cole is said to have assaulted a Frostburg woman early on the morning of May 24 as she was returning from Miners Hospital where a relative had died. Authorities said Cole has a prior record which includes two terms in the Maryland Penitentiary.

Land Owners Cooperate In Field Area

Owners of land involved in a wet condition at the upper end of the athletic field of Valley High School agreed today to work with the Allegany County Board of Education to clear up the situation.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said an agreement was reached this morning for the board to obtain the property involved, or secure easements across it.

Webster visited the site Wednesday to check on conditions reported at a meeting with Allegany County legislators, school officials and residents of Lonaconing, last Friday.

At that session in the Court House here, the superintendent informed those present that he and members of the board were fully aware of the drainage ditch situation.

He added there had been several plans proposed to the owners of the property, and some of these had been rejected.

But at today's meeting an agreement was reached, and the board will go ahead with its efforts to alleviate the condition, he added.

Another public meeting has been called for residents of the Lonaconing, and Barton areas for today at 8 p. m. in the Lonaconing City Hall to discuss any progress that has been made on expanding the athletic field.

Olives are the principal part of the Jordanian diet, although the olives are far different than the ones Americans purchase in stores. The wealth of a native is measured by the number of olive trees and vineyards he has under cultivation.

A serious drain on the economy of the country is the large number of refugees who came to Jordan during the Egyptian fighting. Many of these are Communist trained and Communist minded and cause a tremendous amount of trouble for the authorities.

The refugees have little desire to try and do something for themselves, being apparently satisfied with the food and clothing furnished them through United Nations agencies, Miss Popp explained.

Language Difficult
Arabic, the language of the country, is difficult to learn, she continued, jokingly adding that this was the one reason for her desire to return to Jordan.

The hospital by Donald Boeman of Lonaconing, Trooper Foreman said.

Threats Not Carried Out In Shore Area

McCullough Reports School Board Completely His Moves Completely

Raymond O. McCullough, superintendent of schools in Talbot County and former principal of Allegany and Central high schools informed the Evening Times today that none of the threats of anti-integrationists were carried out yesterday, the first day of school in that Eastern Shore county.

He said there were no speeches, no insults and no attempts made to prevent eight Negro children to enter two schools in Easton and one in nearby Oxford. This is the second year of integration.

Police, however, arrested three persons from a group of 30 members of the anti-integration Talbot County School Citizens Association at Easton Primary School and Easton Elementary School.

Refused To Obey Order
They were picked up when they refused to obey police orders to move along. One, Francis Berry, carried a sign "Keep Our White Schools All White."

Henry A. Spies, president of the anti-group, said his association is going to ask the Talbot County Board of Education at its meeting Wednesday night for McCullough's resignation.

Spies told the Talbot County Commissioners Tuesday that "A man who believes in integration has no business at the head of our school board."

Today, McCullough said the anti-integration movement, along with the resignation request threat, is a "minor thing, with no force behind it."

"The Board of Education is behind me completely," McCullough declared.

No Protest Today
No outward protests were made today to integration of children in three Talbot elementary schools.

In contrast to opening yesterday when 30 to 40 persons demonstrated and three were arrested, only 10 to 15 adults gathered quietly on a street corner near the Hanson Street primary school.

Spies said no plans had been made to resume the demonstrations.

A meeting of the association was held last night. News men were barred.

The three persons arrested yesterday are to appear before a magistrate this afternoon. Berry and Mrs. O. N. Andrew are charged with conspiracy and disorderly conduct.

County Prosecutor Henry P. Turner said the magistrate cannot dispose of such charges and must refer them to the grand jury for action. The charge of conspiring to induce children to stay out of school is subject to a maximum fine of $2,000 and 10 years in jail.

Lester Chance, 39, is charged only with disorderly conduct and subject to disposition before the magistrate.

Talbot County started integrating its schools last year with the first three grades. It was extended to the fourth this year.

The Hanson Street school enrolled six Negro pupils. The Idlewild Avenue school one and the elementary school at Oxford 10 miles away registered four.

Opponents of integration last year sponsored a boycott that lasted about two weeks. At its peak, 35 white children were kept out of school.

140 Receive Safety Pins At Celanese

Gold emblems have been presented to 140 employees at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America for having worked 30 years without an accident, according to Hudson Nix, personnel manager.

Every major division of the plant is represented by the 30-year award winners who comprise 30 per cent of employees with 30 or more years of service.

The emblems, which have been Green Cross of the National Safety Council, have been presented by section superintendents as well as three decades of no-accident periods have been completed. The 140th award was presented to Charles W. Burkhardt, an operator in the extrusion department.

Nix stated that the group had worked more than a million man days, or more than 8,000,000 man hours without an accident. It was pointed out that the significance of this achievement is indicated by the fact that 3,000,000 man hours is the figure required for the highest award of the National Safety Council.

Amcelle started production Christmas Day, 1924, and a total of 225 employees with more than 30 years of continuous service are still working. The safety record, which has prompted many national and company awards, is more remarkable, officials note, when it is considered that the plant was the first of its kind in the United States and began operation with inexperienced employees except for a few technicians and supervisors with foreign man-made fiber experience.

The safety program, including employee safety award procedure, is administered by H. A. Johnson, supervisor of safety and plant protection.

Hay Fever Hits District Hard

Those red noses and eyes you see on some residents of this parched area aren't coming from crying or colds.

It's hay fever time, and some of those afflicted with this seasonal ailment report this is the worst summer in many years.

That's due probably to the fact that it has been extremely dry and windy, and as a result the dust and pollen gets a good spreading around.

As there has been little rain since June, the hayfever sufferers haven't been getting much temporary relief weatherwise.

Meyer Appointed Employee Unit Director

C. Robert Meyer, a Cumberland employee of The Potomac Edison Company, has been named director for the utility company's employees' association for the 1957-58 year.

The appointment was announced recently by William J. Leatherman, association president.

In his capacity as director for the group, Meyer, along with other officers and directors, will supervise the social activities of the company's employees.

Meyer, who was recently named commercial representative for the company's Cumberland District, resides in Keyser, but will move to this city soon.

Police Arrest 141, Firemen Get 56 Calls

The City Police Department made 141 arrests and collected $1,481 in fines during August, according to the report filed with the Mayor and Council Monday by William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire.

The Fire Department made 56 calls during the month. They were categorized as follows: Dwellings, eight; autos, four; trucks, two; grass, 34; false alarms, four; mercantile, two; emergency, one; and railroad, one.

The Mayor and Council approved the appointment of John Martin as a probationary member of the fire department.

Farmers Note Bad Condition Of Pastures

Seedlings Die For Lack Of Moisture; Sowing Being Delayed

Farmers in Allegany County and nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania sections report that pastures are practically gone due to the extreme drought conditions.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said today that the drought is in its most severe stage and fall seedlings are dying out for lack of moisture to bring germination.

Sowing of barley and wheat and hay type pastures has been held up due to the dry conditions. If rain does not fall soon the pastures will all have to be reseeded as grasses are at the point where they will die out without some moisture.

Dairy farmers are using hay and ensilage to feed their cattle because pastures cannot supply any feeding and would be ruined from browsing of livestock.

Steger said in rural sections many small streams and wells have gone dry. In nearby West Virginia areas residents of the rural section have been hauling water for their own use in the past few weeks. A similar situation exists in other points in Allegany County.

Meanwhile, the weather in the Cumberland area cooled off somewhat with a low of 45 degrees today. Yesterday's high was 79 degrees. It will be fair to low with temperatures in the low 40s and low 50s. Tomorrow will have considerable cloudiness and be a little warmer. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Steger said that lawns of many homes are badly in need of water and rainfall in the next week or so might bring them back to fair condition. Reseeding of lawns would be necessary if the drought conditions continue to any extent, Steger added.

Steam Burns Men At Work

Two employees at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation were injured yesterday in a working accident which hospitalized one with first and second degree burns of the legs and arm.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was George E. Douthitt, 52, of Fort Ashby, and treated at the institution for minor burns was Clarence D. Frost, 48, of RD 1. Douthitt is a pipefitter and Frost a welder. Douthitt was reported "improved" today.

The men, plant officials said, were working in a stabilizer tank when "slurry" was discharged into an adjoining tank from a common vat. The chemical compound was being treated with steam which backed up and began discharging into the tank where the men were working.

The men were slowed in getting out since exit had to be made by a ladder. Plant spokesmen said it is presumed Douthitt was the second to leave the tank and thought that was why he was more severely burned.

Policewoman To Attend Conclave

Cumberland's first fulltime policewoman, Mrs. Betty Williams, will attend the Governor's Conference on the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency next week at the University of Maryland.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn today said Mrs. Williams will attend the conference as part of her training in the various aspects of her new position. Since being named as a member of the City Police Force Wednesday, Mrs. Williams has been sitting in on juvenile court cases involving delinquent children.

The conference sessions, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will feature state and national authorities on the prevention and treatment of delinquent children, Chief Flynn said.

Gephart School PTA Will Meet

The Gephart School Parent-Teacher Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the school. Officers, chairman and co-chairmen of committees as well as homeroom mothers have been asked to attend, according to Mrs. George Fey, president.

Fall and winter activities will be planned.

Two Wills Probated In Orphans Court

Two wills were admitted to probate today in Orphans Court. The will of Margaret G. Boyd, Lonaconing, who died August 14 named a sister, Ann Boyd Albright, Lonaconing, as executrix and beneficiary.

The will of Millard Rice, city, who died August 19, 1956, named his daughter, Jessie M. Wilson, as beneficiary. She obtained letters of administration on the estate.

State Acting To Purchase Land For Park

HAGERSTOWN — The State has taken the first step in acquiring land for a new park on South Mountain.

The proposed State park, authorized by legislation after several thousand Washington County residents petitioned for it, would be located on the site of the old Penmar amusement park.

The amusement park formerly was operated by the Western Maryland Railway and served as a vacation and holiday gathering place for thousands of Marylanders. It is located near the Pennsylvania-Maryland border about 15 miles northeast of Hagerstown.

The State Department of Forests and Parks has taken option on 325 acres of the 600 to 600 it hopes to acquire. No dates have been set for complete acquisition of the land or construction of the park.

The next step is for the Forests and Parks Department to determine who owns the land.

The Legislature already has earmarked $16,000 to start buying the property although eventually considerably more money will be needed.

The State hopes to create a small lake in the park for bathing and boating.

Electric Worker Killed On Duty

CAMBRIDGE — A 22-year-old lineman from Richmond, Va., was electrocuted on a pole today when he came in contact with a 7,200-volt line.

Stuart Ryland Ament Jr., an employee of the Walter Truland Co., was working with a crew of five miles east of Cambridge when a piece of wire he held touched the hot line.

A fire company rescue squad failed to revive him with artificial respiration.

spoken word is different—the written word being of “classical” standing, while the spoken word is a colloquialism. Before being assigned to the Aljoun hospital, Miss Popp spent 16 months studying the language at a Beirut school conducted by the Southern Baptist Convention.

Miss Popp attributes her vocation as a medical missionary to her parents and a combination of a mission-minded former pastor of Second Church here, Rev. Kenneth M. Hayes, now located in Baltimore. Also an influence in making the selection, she continued, was Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, now pastor of Bedford Road Baptist Chapel and director of missionary work for Second Church.

A 1942 graduate of Fort Hill High School, Miss Popp completed her nursing training at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in 1945. After working at the hospital for a year, she studied for a degree at the University of Pittsburgh, completing her studies in 1948.

She returned to Memorial Hospital after that and was director of education for four years before going to Carver School of Missions and Social Work, conducted by the Southern Baptist Convention in Louisville, Ky. After completing her studies there, she left for Jordan in 1953.

While on leave in this country, Miss Popp hopes to complete some work on her master's degree at the University of Pittsburgh. Much of her time will also be spent in explaining her work before various church groups and meetings, she explained, adding that there is a great need for people to both nurse and teach among such people as the Jordanians.

She will go to Richmond this weekend where she will undergo a physical examination; principally to determine if she contracted any disease while treating her patients in Aljoun.

After being informed that she was eligible to return home, she was replaced at the hospital by a Finnish nurse, Miss Annie Hagstrom, whom she expects to see on her return.

Perfect Season In '56
Since then the Golden Tornado has compiled a perfect mark, winning 10 season contests last fall and capping a brilliant year by taking Mullens across in the state title contest, 12-0, at Beckley. Keyser finished out the '56 campaign with five in a row.

In addition to state honors, the Tornado has also taken the EVC championship in each of the past three seasons and compiled a league string of 15 wins without a loss. The last time a loop foe set down Keyser was in the final game of the '54 campaign when Romney took the league title with an 18-13 trimming of the Clarkmen.

This will be the 15th season for Clark as headmaster at Keyser with his 14 previous seasons having compiled a record of 96 wins, 45 losses and five ties. The victory total is tops in the district, six more than the 90 conquests of Fort Hill's Bill Hahn in his 12 years at the helm of the South End school.

Only five lettermen are back from last season's team with three of the gridirers being classed as holdover regulars. Melvin Davis was a two-way performer at tackle while Kay Hollingsworth saw duty as a defensive halfback along with Charles Gurganus. Other monogram wearers back-for-duty are guard Tom Hartman and fullback Mark Wensell. All but Gurganus are seniors.

Keedy At Quarter
Gary Keedy, five-nine, 144-pound sophomore, has been given the task of filling the role of quarterback for the Clarkmen with sparkplug Billy Clevenger having been graduated last spring. Another key spot to be filled is center where Jim Turbin, an all-state selection in '56, held down the post. Both ends, Ed Parrish and Charles Tribbett, and tackle Norman Groves were also seniors on last year's club.

Hartman, Davis and Hollingsworth will serve as co-captains for Keyser tomorrow. The probable starting lineup will have Mike Montgomery and Bob Keller at ends; Jerry Shumaker and Davis, tackles; Hartman and Jim Leatherman, guards, and Scott Brown, center.

In addition to Keedy at quarter, the rest of the starting backfield is expected to be Gurganus and Hollingsworth, halfbacks, and Wensell, fullback.

Keyser's first game in the PVC will be Friday, Sept. 27, against Ridgely on the Hawks' gridiron.

Charles Town, beaten 19-14 by Keyser in last year's opener, has 11 lettermen returning and the Purple Panthers are looking forward to one of their top seasons.

Burns To Guide Panthers
Quarterbacking the Panthers will be Larry Burns, a sophomore, and former Cumberlander. Larry is the son of Master Sgt. Virgil (Red) Burns, star signal caller on the LaSalle teams in

Dame Fortune Smiles Again On Bob Grim

By International News Service

Bob Grim has stated all along that this is his lucky year and the ace New York Yankee reliever isn't going to take his words back now.

Not after hitting a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to give his team a 5-to-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Grim's blow off Willard Nixon yesterday was only his second big league homer in four years and it convinced him that the breaks were going his way again.

The New York-born right-hander, who tends bar in the off-season, has freely admitted he hasn't been at his best this year even though he won consistently.

Over the Labor Day weekend, he lost two games and Bob said that was the breaks evening up.

Now Dame Fortune is smiling on him again.

After he hit the 350-foot wallop into the right field seats, the 6-foot-1, 175-pounder smiled and said, "Even in batting practice, I never could hit a ball to right field."

Manager Casey Stengel was just as happy.

"I would have had somebody bat for him, except we had nobody much left to hit, pitch or field," said Stengel. "Then he did it and my only worry was that when he got to second base he'd peel off and go out and see how far that ball went."

Seixas-Flam Match Tops Slate Today

By HOWARD SIGMUND

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. — (INS) — Vic Seixas, the gritty young-old man of tennis, and Herb Flam, the bespectacled TV quiz whiz, battle each other today for the right to become the only American in the men's semi-finals of the National Championships.

Fourth-seeded Seixas, cast in a familiar role as Uncle Sam's chief threat to cop the coveted singles title, and eighth-seeded Flam have a quarter-final date which will duke the U.S. out of another tournament delegate.

In another round of eight encounters, Australia's unseeded Malcolm Anderson plays Chile's unseeded Luis Ayala in a test of two talented darkhorses.

Today's to-do on the neatly manicured lawns of the West Side Tennis Club's Stadium will supply semi-final opponents for Australia's top-ranked Ashley Cooper and Sweden's third-seeded Sven Davidson, who reached that high altitude yesterday.

Gives Committee Fits
Cooper, the handsome 20-year-old Australian champion, gave the U.S. Davis Cup selection committee fits when he crushed Budge Patty, the Californian who shifted his franchise to Paris, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

Davidson, the sport's tireless marathon specialist, captured his third overtime match of the tourney when he burst the Cinderella bubble of Army Lt. Clifford Mayne of Fort Monmouth, N. J., 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Mayne had upset Australia's fifth-seeded Neale Fraser in the third round.

The Seixas-Flam winner goes against Cooper on Saturday while the Anderson-Ayala victor gets a crack at Davidson.

As usual, America's position was far more encouraging in the women's bracket.

Althea Gibson, the lithe Harlem swinger and heavy favorite to win the girls' top prize, faced eighth-seeded Mary Hawton of Australia in one quarter-final match today while Darlene Hard (5), chunky blonde from Montebello, Calif., who was runnerup to Miss Gibson at Wimbledon, met fourth-seeded Shirley Bloomer of Great Britain in the other.

Cup Hopes Darkened
The winners will join second-seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and third-seeded Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills in Saturday's semis.

Miss Brough, four-time Wimbledon champ and National champion in 1947, defeated 18-year-old Ann Haydon of Great Britain, 7-5, 6-1, yesterday while Mrs. Knode disposed of little Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., 6-2, 6-1.

Louise will play the winner of the hard-bloomer match while Mrs. Knode faces the Gibson-Hawton winner in the round of four.

Uncle Sam's Davis Cup aspirations were darkened somewhat by Cooper's convincing triumph over Patty.

The cup committee was slated to name an "old guard" team to that which included the ancient he'd peel off and go out and see how far that ball went."

Zihlman, Barreille Clash Tomorrow For Second Slot

Barreille and Zihlman, who waged almost a season-long struggle for second place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League and then wound up deadlocked for the position at the end of the race, will decide the runnerup tomorrow as they clash at Mt. Savage in a special playoff at 2:30 p. m.

The contest had originally been announced for today. The clubs wound up with 21 wins and seven setbacks over the grind, both a game behind pennant-winning Hyndman.

Exports Win 13 Straight
Barreille, last year's pennant and playoff champ, puts a 13-game win streak up against the Zippers. The meeting is the fifth between the clubs with the regulation four clashes being divided.

Manager "Buck" Fiorita's Old Exports took 6-2 and 5-0 decisions while losing 5-1 and 7-0 fits to the Zippers of "Buck" Winfield.

Tomorrow's loser will go against Hyndman in the opening of the best-of-three semi-finals on Sunday at the Merchants' diamond. The victor will be host to fourth-place Centerville. Both games will start at 2:30 p. m.

Seek Record Fourth Title
Of the four clubs seeking the playoff title only Barreille has ever won honors. The Old Exports, in fact, can add a record fourth crown to their honors by winning as they were on top in 1949 and 1954 in addition to last season. In all three campaigns they won both the flag and playoffs—the only team to hold as many titles.

The pennant taken by the Merchants this summer was their first. In the past eight years of play neither Zihlman nor Centerville has been able to finish on stage.

Army-Irish Game Sellout Assured

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A sellout crowd is expected at Municipal Stadium when the green-shirted Irish of Notre Dame and the black and gold clad legions of the Army meet on the football field next Oct. 12 for the first time in 10 years.

Representatives of the two institutions held a news conference here yesterday and disclosed that 70,000 of the 98,616 available seats already are sold.

Col. Fran Roberts, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, said that Army has made available to the public about 5,000 to 10,000 tickets. They will be handled through a local department store outlet, he said.

Army and Notre Dame last met in 1947. The Irish won 27-7, with Terry Brennan, now coach at his alma mater, running the opening kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown. In the overall series, the Irish have won 23, lost 7. There have been four ties. Under Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, Army has won two; lost three and tied twice.

Mantle Enters Hospital, Will Give Leg Rest

NEW YORK — (INS) — The New York Yankees announced today that Mickey Mantle has entered a hospital to rest his injured left leg for a few days.

Mantle is suffering from shin splints, an injury in which the muscle tissue pulls away from the bone. The Yankees emphasized that he is undergoing no specific treatment but only being kept off his feet to give the injury a chance to heal.

Braves Frittering Away Lead With Great Haste

Cards Again Deal Defeat To National Pacesetters

By FRED DE LUCA
NEW YORK—(INS)—Memo to Milwaukee: Don't count your chickens before they hatch, there's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip and, more to the point, don't spend your World Series money till the pennant's won.

The Braves are not in a desperate position since they still head the flag chase by 6½ lengths with only 21 games to play, but the Bear City boys are frittering away their lead with great haste.

Fred Haney's front-runners were completely outclassed by second-place St. Louis last night as the Cardinals took their second in a row from the Braves to nurture the idea that a "miracle" is possible.

In losing, 10 to 1, the Braves managed to get only four hits off Sad Sam Jones and their lone run was unearned.

Break Through Burdette

The Cards broke through Lew Burdette for three runs in the fifth on five singles and added two more on Del Ennis' homer off Juan Pizarro in the sixth. The Redbirds piled up five more in the eighth with Al Dark's three-run double the big blow of the inning.

Jones now is 11-and-8 while Burdette is 14-and-8. The Cards also boast an edge over Milwaukee in the season series, 10 to 9.

In other National League games, Brooklyn and Carl Erskine beat Philadelphia, 3 to 1, to move eight games behind Milwaukee. Whammy Douglas, the one-eyed Pittsburgh rookie, hurled the Pirates to a 4-to-2 victory over the New York Giants. Brooks Lawrence won his 14th as Cincinnati topped the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 1, in a day game.

Mickey, Ted Missing

There were only two day games in the American League. Mickey Mantle and Ted Williams were both out of the starting lineups once again when the Yankees played Boston. New York won, 5 to 2, thanks to ace reliever Bob Grim, who turned hitter and belted a three-run homer with two out in the ninth. Chuck Stobbs pitched a three-hitter and Roy Sievers homered to lift Washington to a 3-to-0 win over Baltimore.

The Yankee victory increased their league lead to 5½ games. Grim, who relieved Bob Turley in the ninth, won his 12th by belting his first hit of the year. Jackie Jensen's two-run homer gave the Sox a lead in the fourth inning but Gil McDougald's bases-loaded single in the eighth off Willard Nixon tied the score.

Sievers' homer was his 35th and it gave him the league leadership over Mantle. The three hits allowed by Stobbs were all singles and by outpitching Ray Moore the southpaw registered his eighth win against 18 defeats.

Robin Leads In Losses

Robin Roberts, who lost for Philadelphia, took over the major league leadership in defeats by dropping his 19th. Al Walker doubled home two runs off Roberts and Carl Furillo knocked in the other with a two-base hit. Erskine allowed only one Phil hit through the first seven innings but needed help from Ed Roeder to nail down his fourth win. It was Erskine's first start since July 21.

Douglas came within one out of pitching his first complete game but he required aid from Roy Face to beat the Giants. Triples by Bill Virdon and Bill Mazeroski figured prominently in Pittsburgh's pair of two-run rallies. Al Worthington was the loser.

Lawrence allowed seven Cub hits in besting Dick Drott. Frank Robinson homered, his 24th, to help carry the Redlegs into a fourth-place tie with the Phils. Drott now is 12-and-11.

Outdoor Seeks Title Today; Rhubarb Mars 12-6 Victory

By J. SUTER NEGG
Evening Times Sports Editor

There is a good chance that the Rocking Chair Softball League playoffs will end this evening with the fourth meeting of the best-of-five series between defending champion Outdoor Club and the BPO Elks at Stichter Field. The contest is slated for 6 p. m.

Outdoor Club took a 2-1 lead yesterday at Stichter with a 12-6 victory in a contest marred by arguments. Glenwood "Tag" Reel, manager of the Elks, played the game under protest when a rhubarb developed, but announced afterwards that he was withdrawing his objection.

The situation developed after two were out in the last of the fourth with Outdoor holding a 1-0 lead. With the bases loaded, "Goldie" Evans rified a ground smash down the first-base line, scoring two runs. Umpire Bill Andrews ruled Mil Dean, the runner on first, out for being struck by a batted ball, but then reversed his decision after Outdoor Club argued the ball bounded off first baseman Bob Price's glove before striking the runner.

Battle Rages

For a full 15 minutes the battle of words raged. The ump finally ruled that the latter decision would stick and Reel immediately lodged his protest. Pitcher Glenn Kauffman singled after hostilities were resumed and the bases were loaded again.

Ted Durbin, who had singled in his two previous times at the plate, then lashed a drive down the left-field line that umpire "Sookie" Grimes ruled foul. This also brought a strong reaction from Outdoor players who argued the ball was fair. The enraged Ted then rapped one of Bill Underdonk's pitches in the opposite direction and it went for a grand-slam homer.

Jim Gaffney, Elks rightfielder, made no effort to get the ball but by the time centerfielder Roy Manges had scaled the bank and returned the sphere to the infield, the speedy Durbin was on his way home.

Elks Demoralized

But even before all of this happened, there was another disputed play at third that could have resulted in a shutout inning for Outdoor Club instead of a six-run spurge that broke open the game and all, but demoralized the Elks. With runners on first and second and two outs, Dean whacked a ball that caromed off "Pooch" Orndorff's glove at third. Orndorff recovered and scrambled to the bag but Grimes ruled that Dean had reached the sack before "Pooch" touched it with his outstretched hand.

Underdonk blanked the hard-hitting champs in the fifth, but they roared back with five more runs in the sixth to turn the game into a rout.

"Bub" Porter, who had a three-for-three evening at the plate, opened with a single to center the Hawks' field while PVC play and Dean sent him to third with a single to center. Porter's single to center met with Berkeley Springs tangling with the ball allowed Porter to score. Circleville on the latter's gridiron and Dean raced home when Durbin, batting star of the day, clouted his fourth hit, a single to right. "Pete" Elliott, who walked, and Jimmy Eckard ever fielded a team.

Landis' Work At Richmond Pleases Coach

By The Associated Press

For a fellow who doesn't have an experienced quarterback to his name, Davidson football Coach Bill Dole was feeling remarkably chipper today as the first week of pre-season practice neared an end.

A spirited three-way battle for the quarterbacking job has developed in the Davidson camp and on the basis of what he's seen so far, Dole says he is "very much encouraged."

The three principal combatants for the quarterbacking job are a junior, Tom Cutting; a sophomore, Charlie Benson; and a freshman, Tom Redding. Right now, after a week of practice, Cutting appears to have the inside track for the starting assignment.

WVU Stresses Blocking

West Virginia's league champions emphasized blocking in the line and faking by ball-carriers in their drills at Jackson's Mill. Singled out for praise were guard Chuck Howley, center Chuck Bilak and backs Larry Krutko, Ralph Anastasio, Whitley Mikanik, Ray Peterson, Mickey Trimarki and Dick Longfellow.

Virginia Tech Coach Frank Moseley, trying to develop reserve strength, went back to work on fundamentals. The accent was on finding depth at guard, tackle and fullback.

The Citadel had 14 players sidelined by minor injuries but Coach Eddie Teague held two rugged practice sessions anyway, concentrating on offense and ball-handling by the quarterbacks.

Scrimmages Staged

Furman had a long scrimmage in which Bill Weier and Jerry Penland reeled off long runs and quarterback Bill Baker showed good ball-handling ability.

A short scrimmage was on tap at William & Mary. Coach Mill Dwyer emphasized goal-line defense and offense.

VMI gave emphasis to defense in actual contact work. Richmond labored on passing offense and defense. Jerry Landis, of Cumberland, Md., and Joe Rossetti handled the quarterbacking chores and did a good job that pleased Coach Ed Merrick.

Washington & Lee began practice with a squad of only 22. The turnout disappointed new coach Lee McLaughlin, though he expects more players to be coming in daily. The opening workouts saw the Generals learning basic facts about McLaughlin's new offensive formation, the "go-T," a combination of the single wing and the split-T.

Injuries Hit Terps; Healy Out For Good

By The Associated Press

The injury plague, which coaches dread most during the first two weeks of practice, already has laid its heavy hand on Atlantic Coast Conference football camps.

Maryland yesterday got word of the loss of co-captain and half-back Jack Healy. A physician advised Healy to give up football or risk permanent damage to a knee.

Defending conference champion Clemson earlier this week lost tackle Jim McCanless, when he re-injured his neck. Coach Frank Howard described McCanless last spring as the only tackle he had with enough experience to compete in the ACC.

North Carolina State had four men, two of them first stringers, on the sidelines yesterday. Among the injured were quarterback Frank Cackovic and end John Collar. Coach Earle Edwards, however, expected them back in action within a few days.

Duke, expected to be the conference and national powerhouse, went through two lively practice sessions yesterday. Coach Bill Murray liked the work of three quarterbacks: Bob Brodhead, Pryor Miller and George Harris.

Virginia Coach Ben Martin ran pass plays with the ACC's 1956 top passer Nelson Yarbrough and Reece Whitely doing the throwing.

Wake Forest went through a long passing drill before turning to rugged defensive scrimmaging.

North Carolina Coach Jim Tatum showed the Tar Heels a filmed version of their scrimmage Wednesday. "By far the best first scrimmage of any team I have ever coached," Tatum called it.

South Carolina also worked from films on a scrimmage Wednesday.

Basilio Would Quit Welters

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP)—If Carmen Basilio beats Sugar Ray Robinson he'll keep the middleweight title and give up the welterweight championship since boxing commissions no longer allow a man to hold two or three crowns.

The National Boxing Assn. has indicated Basilio would have a choice of which to keep if he whips Robinson at Yankee Stadium Sept. 23.

"I've got a rematch contract with Robinson," Basilio said today in the midst of a two-day enforced "vacation." "If I win—and I expect to win—I'm supposed to fight Robinson again. That would rule out any idea of holding the welter title. When I give it up, I'll stick to it. Anyhow I won't have to make 147 pounds anymore."

'Stovers To Play Ponies' Tonight

A team composed of players from all the clubs in the Hot Stove Baseball League will play a doubleheader this evening at Penn Avenue Field against the top clubs from the Bi-State-Penn League.

In the 6 o'clock opener the 'Stovers will oppose Ellerslie, pennant winner and playoff champ of the Bi-State circuit. In the nightcap, probably around 8 o'clock, the runnerup Mt. Savage team from the Bi-State circuit will tangle with the locals.

George Flynn, manager of the Jaycees, and Wayne White, Kiwanis pilot, will direct the 'Stovers tonight. A return game with Mt. Savage may be staged there Sunday with details to be worked out after tonight's contests.

year-old Patty, 44-year-old Gardner Mulloy and a couple of unpredictable "will they go?" question marks—Dick Savitt and Ham Richardson.

Patty, the former Wimbledon king who has been making his first appearance at Forest Hills in five years, has stated that he won't make the challenge round trip to Australia unless allowed to play in the singles.

Cooper Romps

But after his loss to Cooper yesterday, Chauncey Steele, chairman of the selection committee, let it be known that he thought that the handsome hero of the Parisian Boulevards "is not ready for singles competition."

Not for Cooper, at any rate. The dark-haired Aussie, his nation's No. 1 Davis Cup gun who was second to Lew Hoad at Wimbledon, romped to victory after crashing through Patty's service at love in the eighth game of the first set.

Patty, unable to get his first serve in throughout the contest, was forced into countless errors by the pressure-pouring Aussie blaster.

Steele would prefer to have Patty and Mulloy, the Wimbledon doubles titlists, on the Davis Cup team as a combination.

Miceli Tests Saxton Today

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Two-time welterweight champion Johnny Saxton will be shooting for a higher national ranking tonight when he meets veteran Joe Miceli in a nationally televised (NBC) ten-round bout.

Saxton, who is unranked by Ring Magazine and listed No. 5 by the National Boxing Association, returns to the ring for the first time since he lost his crown to Carmen Basilio last February.

Despite his inactivity, the former 147-pound titlist is rated a slight favorite over his unranked opponent from New York who has been fighting middleweights and even light heavies in recent days.

Saxton's record shows 64 wins, including 21 knockouts, six losses and two draws. Miceli has had 83 bouts, including 53 victories, 23 defeats and seven draws.

Betty Johnson Of Jack Paar Show Puts Across Songs With Her Homespun, Bubbly Personality

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS). — Let's give a little girl a nice, big, unreserved compliment: Betty Johnson, of the Jack Paar Show.

Whether it's because she's so much more than a month or whether it's simply her own sunny, bubbly personality makes mighty little difference, what comes over into living rooms is a great big blob of happy-faced enjoyment of life which can be described only as absolutely akin to the pleasant wallop, the eagerness to be liked, the outgoing effervescence, to which Dinah Shore has the only other absolute patent among TV singers.

Knowing not a thing about Miss Johnson, she stacks up perkily as a thoroughly nice, modest, homespun young lady without the awkwardness usually associated with the word homespun.

She also sings real nice... while distributing a few compliments around the Paar premises, let's not ignore the lightning-swift reactions of Hans Conradd, who is a rare TV item, unusual in that no one heretofore has quite captured his uninhibited personality.

Conradd is proving again there is room—lots of room—for his definite, modern, whip-quick wit, part of the latter involving his unbridled, unashamed hamminess, his high-style sense of humor which reduces any resentment to his broad braggadocio, and other rare qualities usually reserved for devilish gentlemen of the arts.

In this rare mood of expanding good will today there also should be a word of praise for Hugh Downs, who, as an announcer, is almost the only such speller who seems to be part of an ad lib show who operates with intelligence and restraint, not as if each time he gets on will be the only chance of his lifetime to impress a talent scout or sponsor who might lift him out of the east of principals and make him a star.

He strikes the remarkable balance required in his contribution to the show and creates a nice helping of warmth and professionalism instead of a greedy, aggressive drive to pile up points over the stars.

In so performing, he has added considerably to his own starfire as a quite extraordinary TV helper.

Now, about Dody Goodman—we suspect we'd admire her more if only Jack Paar hadn't insisted on so many refresher courses on her naivete and child-like qualities.

Dody seems to us to have devised a very shrewd suggestion: naive instead of the truly ingenious...

'It Worked,' Is Only Answer

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The late Jimmy Maier whose name cannot be left off anyone's list of all-time great players once justified a certain play by saying, "It worked, didn't it?"

The play of today's hand by Lee Downer of Tucson falls into the same category. I will let Mr. Downer describe it to you in his own words.

"My first look at dummy told me that practically every other pair in our duplicate game would be at three no-trump also. Of course a couple would be at four spades.

"I also assumed that the heart opening would be made all around the room and I went right up with dummy's king. I played the queen of diamonds from dummy and it held the trick. I continued with the jack and when East produced his king I won with my ace.

"On the assumption that the

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mary Haworth Mail...

Editor's Note: Iried by sister-in-law, man sounds off on plain and "scary" women generally.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why are plain women so scary? Is it an act? When they are walking along a street at night—even a well lighted, well traveled street—they act so terrified if a man approaches within 20 paces of them.

Their more fortunate sisters don't seem to be afraid of males. The good looking dames act as if they are used to having males nearby.

I've noticed the same thing in church. Enter a new behind a homely woman and invariably she will turn around—as if expecting to be knoked on the head. It must be an act in those circumstances; I've never heard of anyone's being hit on the head in a crowded church.

But my main problem is—my sister-in-law. She has been living with us (my wife and me) for 10 years, and she still jumps every time I enter a room where she may be reading or watching TV.

Wife Restrains His Impatience
You might think that long before 10 years had elapsed, she would have got used to my living in the same house with my wife—but such is not the case, it seems.

Frankly I think it's an act, and have been on the verge, several times, of telling her so. But my wife won't hear of it. I mustn't offend my sister-in-law, although I'm supposed to put up with her making like I am Dracula.

Honestly, it's getting to the point where I even hesitate to enter my own house, lest I scare the daylight out of my sister-in-law. If she should die of fright some day, on looking up from her book (or whatever) and seeing me enter a room, am I to feel guilty?

I am convinced that she and other scary women are putting on an act. What do you say, Mary?

—W.C.

Tension Bred Of Loneliness

DEAR W. C.: Why are plain women so scary? Well, maybe the jumpy kind of plain woman you deplore—on the street, in church, at home, etc.—is a lonely soul.

The habitually lonely person tends automatically to become immersed in self-concern—because inwardly isolated from the security of close protective alliances.

His emotions turn back upon himself because he lacks a partner, pal or spouse, with whom to exchange intimate thoughts and feelings on a reciprocity basis. This type of emotional short circuit tends to build up hair-trigger tension in the nervous system—hence the jumpy reaction to "outsider" approaches.

I don't think it's an act. I think it is the frightened reflex of a person who feels alone in the world (even if surrounded by decent folks). The aloneness feeling stems from a sense that you aren't vitally important to anybody—that nobody really cares what happens to you. This is perhaps the most "threatening" sensation that humans ever know, in the ordinary routine of life.

Feels Guilty Of Intruding
Probably that's how your sister-in-law feels in your house. Deep in her mind, she probably labels herself an intruder in your domestic privacy—though loyally harbored by her sister (maybe for a boarder's fee), and heroically put-up-with by you.

Thus when you enter a room, to find her reading or watching TV, she probably twinges with guilty anxiety. She feels defensive about being there—"in your way," taking her ease where she isn't really wanted. No doubt she feels the telepathic repercussions of your impatience with a set-up that includes her—also, perhaps, your caustic indifference to the plain woman, such as she is.

As for women aloof on the streets at night—even well lighted, well traveled streets—I think they're smart to keep a wary eye out, and a safe distance between themselves and approaching males. The good lookers as well as the plain Janes ought to do that. It's not a matter of nerves or of cowardice; it's just plain common sense, in this era of violence warped by a series of wars.—M. H.

Annual Benefit Slated

The sixth annual benefit semi-formal dance sponsored by the Cumberland Sorority Club will be held Friday, October 11, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Mrs. Blanche Ridgeway, club president, has appointed Mrs. Faye Stillwagon and Mrs. Maxine Doak as chairmen of arrangements.

The theme of this social event will be "Indian Summer" with music by Happy Laughner's Orchestra of Youngstown, Pa.

The last benefit dance, "Oriental Ball," sponsored by the club was a complete sellout two weeks before the dance date. Popularity of the annual festivity has caused the committee to begin plans for an extensive advance sale of patron tickets.

There will be no admissions available at the door the night of the dance, Mrs. Ridgeway said, but reservations may be made with any member of the club.

Talk On Europe Set
A talk on Europe will be given Sunday at 11 a. m. at First Brethren Church, Seymour and Fourth streets, by Ray Aspinall, a seminary student who made a trip overseas. He will also show slides of his trip.

Zembower Barber Shop Bought By Yantorno
The barbering business of Percy Zembower at 106 South Liberty Street has been purchased by Michael F. Yantorno Jr., 203 Fayette Street.

Yantorno, who was recently discharged from the Navy after nine years of service, first began barbering here in 1937. Zembower and his brother, Charles Zembower, will continue to work at the shop, according to Yantorno, who plans to name it the Strand Barber Shop.

The barber shop has been located at the South Liberty Street address for over 20 years.

Grass Blazes Keep Firefighters Busy In Area
The powder-dry section continued over the night without any rain, and firemen were kept busy quenching brush and grass blazes.

South Cumberland Fire Company yesterday bore the brunt of the back-breaking work as it made four runs to beat out grass fires.

The South End firemen made their first run at 8:15 a. m. to Fisher's Woods. They spent almost three hours on the site.

They were called to the B&O Rolling Mill area shortly after 11 a. m. and spent almost an hour bringing a grass fire under control.

The same company rolled again at 1:28 p. m. and within a few minutes beat down a grass fire in the rear of 513 Oldtown Road.

They made the fourth run to an area at the rear of Jane Fraser Village and spent over an hour bringing that blaze under control.

Central Fire Company also rolled on the last fire, and spent about half an hour fighting the fire in the Blackiston Avenue section.

West Side Fire Company joined the grass fire fight at 2:10 p. m. when it was called to the Lafayette Avenue section. Firemen were kept busy for over an hour.

LaVale Volunteer Fire Company was called to the Allegany District 16.

Mopping up work was completed by forestry personnel and boys from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp.

On Wednesday about an acre of land burned in the Barrelville area, and the cause was attributed to a careless smoker.

Johnson said the Green Ridge fire was brought under control by members of the forestry camp under the supervision of forestry personnel.
